PRESENTS

THE MARVEL COMMITTEE

Agenda:

Dealing with the Aftermath of Thanos' cataclysmic snap.

Agenda:

Dealing with the aftermath of Thanos' cataclysmic snap.

Introduction:

In the Marvel Summit the delegates will be the actual super heroes. They will have their names, back stories and identities. They will come in with rivalries and friendships that their characters established in the Marvel Cinematic Universe.

Using a slightly looser version of the Model UN rules of procedure, the Marvel Summit will have the heroes debate two very important topics. The debate focuses around Thanos and how the Avengers will rally together to potentially save the world from its biggest enemy. The Avengers and their associates will have to decide their subsequent courses of action in order to stop this unstoppable juggernaut.

Timeline:

The events will take place right after Infinity War and X Men: Days of Future Past. Thanos has erased one half of the world population. The events will focus on its immediate aftermath and the subsequent carnage it has cost.

Things to be discussed:

The main objective of the committee would be to stop Thanos. So the discourse will revolve around that. The participants need to be well versed with the characters and their superpowers. They should also keep in mind the wreckage their actions will cost. They have to potentially hire newer recruits and train them efficiently to manage the crisis at hand. They should also commission the uses of new technology that could help them in their quest, The participants must realize that their Thanos is only their second biggest enemy, the biggest being time. So they must act accordingly. The committee should also potentially find a way to bring back the deceased individuals back from the dead. The committee must also find Thanos' location, his powers and the powers of the Infinity Stones and at the end, how to annihilate this extraordinary monster.
